

BASE BALL BRUTAL?

A foot ball enthusiast, galled by charges of brutality that have been made against the foot ball game, has gone to some trouble to find data against the national game. According to his figures the casualties on the gridiron are not much in excess of these on the dia-mond. Here is his record of accidente in the league during the season of 1896 "George Decker, nose broken; Tim Don-ohue, shoulder blade dislocated and finger split; Kittridge, swollen and utterly useless arm; Truby, badly a lked an kie; Robinson, finger mashed and blood poison; Lowe, broken collar that put him out of the game for the rest of the poison; Lowe, broken collar that put him out of the game for the rest of the year; Collins, repeatedly hurt in every way, shape and form; Loog badly sprained leg; Bergen, badly disabled; Scien, sprained shoulder; Tom Dally, repeatedly hurt; La Chance, broken fluser; Tommy McCarrhy and Anderson, hurt several times. Hollday, Peitz, Hoy, Ewing, MoPhee, and Smith, injured so that they could not play when needed; McAleer, of Claveland, lad up for a long time; Wilson, Braments of leg torn; Zimmer and Cassidy, of Louisville, wrist broken; O'Brien, on the hospital list; Dexter, laid out by a collision with Lange; Doheny, arm hurt; Zearfoss, rendered almost bilind by getting sand in his eyes; Stafford, leg hurt and wrist broken; Herbauer, broken ankle; Beckley, badly hurt and out of the game for weeks; Stennel and Lyons, laid up for a month each; Nash, hitzinthe head by nitched ball and finger hurt that laid him up for the rest of the season; Hall; Sam Thompson, laid up; Dick Cooley, on the shelf; Orth, out of the Same for a long time with a broken thumb, and Quinn, Crooke, Abbey, Tom Brown and Maul, were smong the other cripples."

Those "Stolen" Bases. Commenting on President Young's desire to control the official scorers of the league, Edgar S. Sherklan says: "The very least that the league can do in the matter is to remedy the present absurd manner of scoring stolen bases. Under the existing rules a man can be given a stolen base for doing almost anything, and the rule be not violated, either." BOWLING.

eight hours per day, bicycle race was attended by a larger audience than on any provious day. There was some very fine riding during the day.

As with but one more day remaining in which to race, the contestants strained every muscle to increase their distances. There was no charige in the relative positions of the men to-night at the close. Waller and Maddox, the leaders, are closely watching each other, and the latter seems unusually confident of overcoming the two lags which Waller has to the good. The leaders made approximately 18 miles to-day, a greater distance than has been accomplished during any day of the contest. The score at the close of the contest to-night was as follows:

Perhaps the test of fire in journalism is whether or not the paper, article or feature receives the favorable criticism of fellow craftsmen. Judged by this criterion the New Year's issue of the Intelligencer was all right, for many newspaper men were good enough to compliment the Intelligencer force upon the bit the special features of yester-day's paper schieved.

The paper was in general demand, and everywhere the enterprise displayed and the result accomplished were spoken of by readers, who united in saying that never before in Wheeling had such a newspaper appeared on the initial day of the year. Many subscribers secured extra copies for preservation and to send to friends sbroad, and altogether the reception accorded was most flattering.

er the reception accorded was most nat-tering.

The Intelligencer editorial force does not presume to imagine that the success of the issue was due entirely to their ef-forts. In fact, most of this success comes from the aid so kindly extended by a number of the paper's good friends in this city. Their articles, on various subjects, were ably written and each subject was covered as only an expert can cover it.

MARTIN'S FERRY. Haps and Mishaps in the Thriving City

Across the River.

Last night was the first night of the big entertainment at the Martin's Ferry opera house under the auspices of the high school alumni association, and it is one of the best ever given in and it is one of the dest ever given in this neighborhood. Fully 150 people take part and it consists of a juvenile cantata, merchant's carnival, chorus, tableaux, drills, marches, llving piccantata, merchants cantwal, contastableaux, drills, marches, living pictures, human organ, solos, etc., etc. Some of the features are entirely new in this part of the country.

"The Court of King Christmas" is the largest and best juvenile cantata in the history of Martin's Ferry. All of the characters are well taken, from "Santa Claus" down and the costumes and scenes are beautiful and picturesque, the material used in the robes, gowns, dresses and suits, being made of velvet, silks, saith, lawns, and other materials of all colors.

The twenty-four girls in the hoop drill are dressed in white. They march in pairs and carry hoops trimmed with befls and covered with a dozen colors. Several of the figures are new and the effect is splendid.

"The Christmas Trees" are represented by six girls and six boys. The girls are dressed in red skirts, red bodices, white walsts and wear white Normandy caps. The boys appear in white waits, red capes, blue caps and sandals.

Sixteen girls represent the "Candy Streen girls represent the "Candy Sixteen girls represent the "Candy white waists, red capes, blue caps and sandals.

Sixteen girls represent the "Candy Kisses" and these wear pink and white striped dresses and black stockingand carried large sticks of candy. The boys were dressed in black and carried blarge sticks of candy of which were attached huge black stockings.

The "Holly Berriea" and "Snow Flakes" each numbered ten, the boys wearing green suits, red lengings and red caps, and the girls white dresses. The "Cuba Libre" tableau made a great hit. In this Miss Mary Davidson appears as "Cuba Libre," Enoch Harris as General Weyler, and Roy McClure as "Uncle Sam." Spain is determined to hold the island. Weyler attempts to stab Miss Davidson, the Cuban girl, and Uncle Sam steps in and interferes, Miss Davidson carries a Cuban flag and all of the characters wear appropriate costumes. The Old Year and New Year tableau was also good.

Year and New Year tableau was also good.

Over forty girls took part in the "Merchant's Carnival," these representing the factories, banks and business houses and no two were dressed alike or had the same verses. Some of the costumes were very striking. Miss Ethel Hobbs, who represented the independent Hose company, wore the $10,000 world's championship belt of that organization. Misses Ruth Mc-Cleary and Amella Reitz, who represented the two banks, were covered with real money. Miss Grace Roberts, the representative of the Actna-Standwith real money. Miss Grace Roberts, the representative of the Aetna-Standard mills, wore a dress made of corrugated tin, gaivanized fron, with tin sallor cap, ouffs, etc. The dress of Miss Myrtle Thompson, who represented the Laughlin mills, was trimmed with nails.

Miss Luella Coss, who represented the Belmont brick works, were a dress marked off in bricks and she carried a hod.

marked off in bricks and she carried a hod.

A most interesting feature was the human organ, in charge of Julius Blumenberg, who was assisted by nine lady members of the alumni. Mr. Blumenberg used sticks and played on the heads of these young ladies, only the back of their heads being exposed to the audience. This organ is such a success that Blumenberg may have it patented.

Mr. Samuels will sing a solo to-night. The proceeds to-night will be used towards purchasing a town clock to be placed on the Martin's Ferry high school building. The cause is a worthy one and the house should be packed.
